The Same Soup

Mike and his father sit at the table to have lunch. What's for lunch? There is some soup. That's not Mike's favourite food. He likes hamburgers. But they don't have any hamburgers.

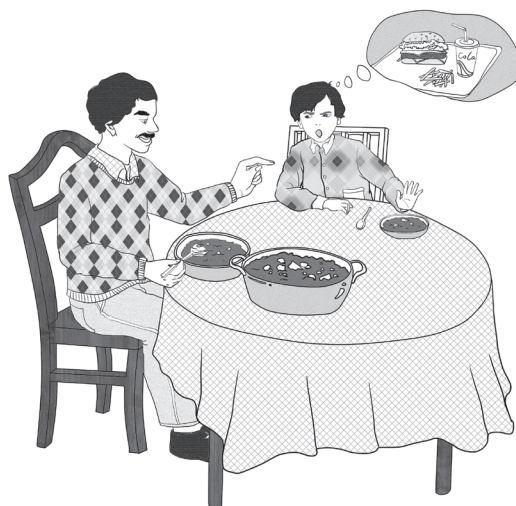

"I don't like this soup. I don't want to eat it," says Mike.

"What would you like to eat, Mike?"

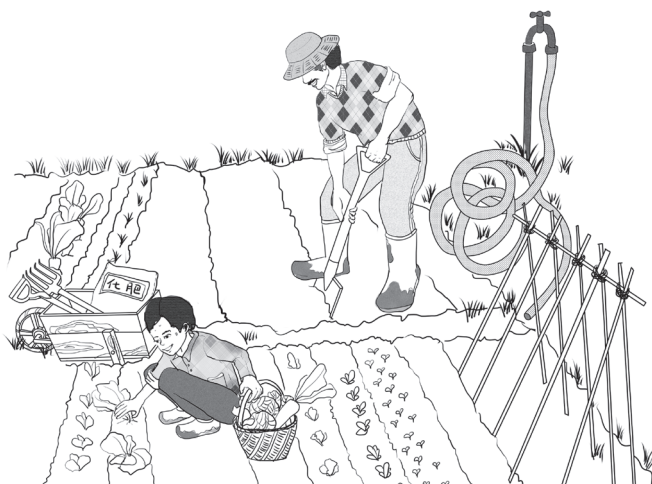

"I'd like hamburgers and some juice."

"The soup is nice. It has vegetables and eggs and tomatoes. It tastes good."

Mike is not happy. He doesn't like the soup.

After lunch, Mike and his father go to work on the farm. They work hard.

In the evening, Mike is very hungry and thirsty. His father gives him some soup for dinner.

“Oh, this soup is good,” Mike says.

“It is the same soup we had at lunch,” his father says.
