The Watchmaker and the Football Player

I live in a little town in Switzerland. I'm very old now. When I was a boy of about twelve, there was an old watchmaker in the town. Every day, he made his watches at the table in his front window.

He made only a few watches every year because he was very careful.

His name was Mr. Steinmach. He didn't have many friends because he was not very friendly.

One day, some kids and I played football, and I hit a ball through his front window.

His watch fell on the ground! He was very angry and I was so scared. I ran away to my home.

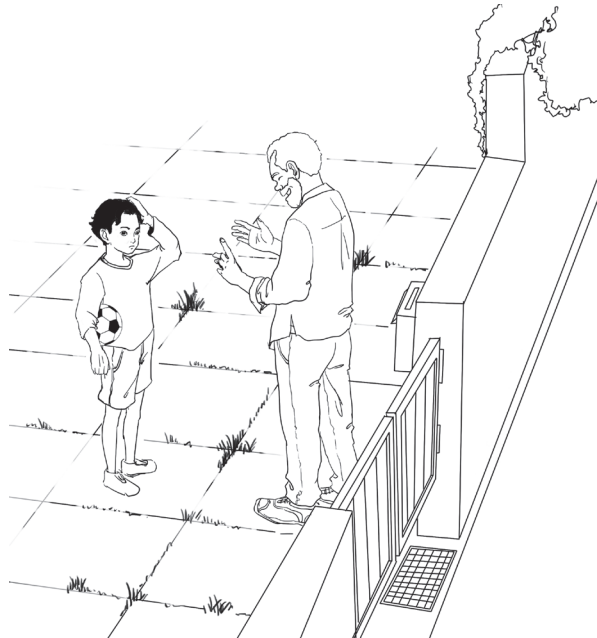

Then one day, I walked by his house and my football rolled by my feet.

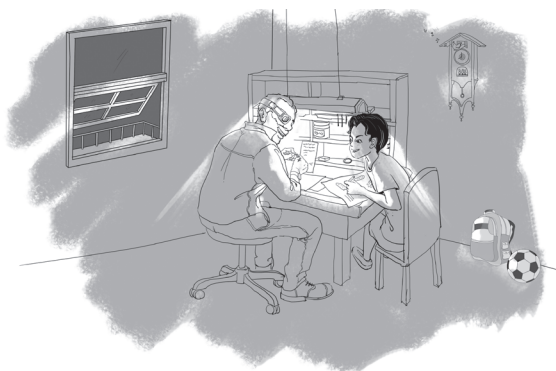

“There’s your ball back!” I heard him call. “Keep it away from my house! You boys are lucky. I fixed the watch.”

I walked up to him and said, “Mr. Steinmach, it was me. I hit that ball through your window.”

“Will you pay for the watch?” he asked. “Not in money, but in work.”

From that day on, I helped work at the old watchmaker's shop. He taught me to make watches. I worked for him after school every day. I learned to be a watchmaker.

That was 60 years ago. Now, I'm the old watchmaker. Sometimes young boys and girls play football in front of my window. I'm afraid they will break my window. I always think of old Mr. Steinmach.
